

STEPHANIE SATIE

www.refugeestheplay.com, actor/writer/scholar

Stephanie Satie is an award-winning actress, playwright and scholar. She has appeared, first as a dancer, then an actress on, off, and off-off-Broadway, in regional theatres and internationally. She is the recipient of 3 grants from the Los Angeles Department of Cultural Affairs. TV appearances include Boston Public, The Practice, The Division, Beverly Hills 90210, numerous soaps and the recurring role of Ida Pfeiffer (Paul's mom) on The Wonder Years.

Coming to America – transformations

9 intimate portraits of women from El Salvador, Afghanistan, Armenia, Cambodia, Iran, Iraq, India, the former Yugoslavia and Russia. Narrative and dance. (65 minutes)

Refugees

Set in an English as a Second language classroom, this critically-acclaimed, unique solo play celebrates new immigrants reinventing their lives in America. Moving. Timely. Hilarious. Published by Samuel French. (75 minutes)

"Beautifully performed; memorable, touching portrayals ... eye-opening and thought-provoking. Took my breath away!"

— Mutlu Urdu,
Coordinator Harbor
Community Adult
School, San Pedro, CA

"Refugees is such a great show – Please let me know when you have another one."

— Bonnie Sardon,
The Athenaem,
Claremont
McKenna College

"Her characters remain indelibly fixed in the mind. In an increasingly divided country and balkinized world, the playwright/ actress offers a hopeful vision. We were most fortunate to have both Refugees and Coming to America. We look forward to seeing her future work."

— Robert Miller, Director of Marketing, Arts and Lecture Series, Marymount College

"I commend you for transporting me in your play, Refugees. Every community in which an established population interacts with recently arrived refugees should see this play."

— Linda Griffith,
Assoc. Prof.,
Glendale College

"Coming to America – where the political and personal intersect to create art."

— Tina McDermott, Presenter,
Antelope Valley College

"I have received so many complimentary comments from folks who attended, including "magical," "amazing," and the like. It was truly a superb show, and it was a tremendous pleasure to work with you."

— Jeanne McCombs
Special Services Coordinator, Monterey Public Library

what the Press has said:

"Rapid fire dialogue... Humor collides with tragedy ...Her portraits ring with weight and authority."

"Remarkably vivid ...flows seamlessly"

"This is the real thing. ...Recommended!"

"★★★★ scintillating tour de force"

"a parade of vivid and touching characters ...120 percent passion"

"Brilliantly written and performed"

"ambitious and compelling...a timely commentary on an increasingly diverse America"

"a master of her craft"

"Pitch-perfect delivery. ...exactly what Americans need to hear right now."

— LA Times

— Daily Variety

— LA Weekly

— The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

— The Stage (London)

— Spectrum Radio (London)

— Minneapolis Pioneer Press

— Edmonton Journal

— offoffoff.com

for booking information contact: Jeannine Frank 310 476-6735
Jeannine@FrankEntertainment.com